

We can help the environment and cut energy costs – without raising your taxes – if we stop corporate give-aways, turn the page on wasteful spending like $30-billion fighter jets, and focus on what really matters: giving every Canadian the tools to succeed in the future.

Your Family. Your Future. Your Canada. The Liberal plan to strengthen the environment

Countries that act now on clean energy will create more jobs, but the Conservatives have been absent while our competitors develop renewable energy and build the low-carbon economy of the future.

A Liberal government will protect our natural environment as we transition to the clean energy economy, while helping families save on energy costs:

- A Green Renovation Tax Credit, allowing families to claim up to $13,500 for environmentally-friendly home improvements that will cut energy costs;
- Better stewardship of our natural environment, to improve the protection of our waterways, parklands and oceans;
- Quadrupling Canada's renewable energy production so families will get more of their electricity from cleaner sources like wind and solar power;
- Cleaner and more responsible oil sands development by redirecting oil sands tax breaks towards new technologies that reduce its environmental impact; and
- Climate change action at home and abroad – by reducing our greenhouse gas emissions without waiting for the US congress to develop our policy.
